

EDITORIAL GUIDELINES

TEXTS

1. ‘The Castle Chronicles’ accepts articles, essays, work on archival sources and reviews for publication. All contributions should be original and unpublished, and should be submitted as Word documents (.doc), (.docx) or Rich Text Format(.rtf).
2. Articles should be up to thirty pages long, including footnotes (one page being equal to 1,800 characters and spaces—i.e. thirty pages equals 55,000 characters and spaces).
3. Structure and layout of articles:
 - a) first name and surname of the author
 - b) affiliation (place of work, or name of town/city)
 - c) title of the article
 - d) content
 - e) bibliography
 - f) keywords in Polish, and, if possible, in English – a maximum of 5–7 words
 - g) summary in Polish, and, if possible, in English – a maximum of 1,000–1,800 characters and spaces
 - h) short note about the author – 300–500 characters and spaces (including place of work, e-mail address, and academic interests)

NB: Summaries and keywords can be translated into English by the publisher. However, we would kindly request that ALL materials be provided in Polish (including summaries and keywords).

ILLUSTRATIONS

1. A maximum of ten numbered illustrations is permitted (in 300 dpi TIFF or JPEG format).
2. Captions to illustrations should be as follows: author, name or title, date, owner of the image, first name and surname of the photographer or the institution that holds the copyright to the photograph (who has the right to reproduce the photographs).
3. Written permission to publish any and all copyright material (i.e. illustrations) in ‘The Castle Chronicles’ must be already obtained by the author.
4. References to illustrations should be placed in the appropriate place within the text, e.g.: (il. 1).
